Dear USH Members and children,
Last Thursday, the books you gave to the children at the East Hartford Family Shelter were delivered. There were so many beautiful books and magazines for infants and children all the way through high school age. They were sorted and labeled by type: Highlights, Golden Books, infants-age 3, 4-5 year olds, 6-7 year olds, 3-4th graders, 5-8th graders, and highschoolers-adults. You donated all of these in a bit more than two weeks...WOW! YOU ARE A WONDERFUL GROUP! The Shelter is so grateful. -Love to each of you, The 3rd-5th RE Class. ~ Submitted by Diana Heymann

Sunday Service Recap by Paul Cipriano
April 16, 2017
“Hunting for Hope”

Photos: Harriet Gardner

Reverend Heather returned this week to lead the “Hunting for Hope“ service and in her opening remarks, welcomed everyone into the sanctuary to celebrate the arrival of spring: “It is so good to see you. It is so good to see spring springing so beautifully around us. However you celebrate this time of year, in whatever way you choose to mark it, we wish you well on this brilliant, beautiful morning.”

“We are in the week of Passover which reminds us of the courage and strength of those seeking freedom. We are at the end of Holy Week and celebrating Easter Sunday which reminds us that creating a peaceful world through justice and community building here on Earth was the great teaching of Jesus and is our greatest human challenge.”

“We are glad to be here together as an always ever changing community of such human beings. Young and old, new to this place, and long timers, always mindful of the past, and seeking out hope and courage to guide us through this complex, present moment towards a more joyful future.”

Peter Meny, our Worship Associate, also welcomed spring: “We are hopeful and optimistic, knowing that the cold and snow and dark days are behind us. This pivoting from Winter to Spring can bring a feeling of euphoria as we look forward to months of warm sunshine, outdoor activities, barbecues and long summer nights. It’s all in front of us.”

“But for some of us internal or external circumstances make it difficult to find hope as they struggle with loss or illness or broken dreams. Whatever you bring this day, know that you are welcome here just as you are.”

Reverend Heather welcomed the children to the steps of the chancel to share her own experiences growing up Unitarian Universalist with them: “Most of our grownups including maybe the grownups who came with you grew up in some other faiths traditions, so they have had a different experience than you are having growing up and coming here to this church.”

“First of all, that’s a mouthful. Unitarian Universalist. That’s a lot of syllables. You may or may not identify as Unitarian Universalist. We don’t think of you as members of this congregation until you have a chance to decide if you want to be members when you are fifteen.”

“Growing up I didn’t really identify as Unitarian Universalist. I just knew that sometimes I went to The First Unitarian Church in Portland Oregon because my Mom went there. There were times when kids at school would ask me about religion, whether I was a Christian or if I believed in God.”

“I am not here today to tell you what it is all about. That is up to you. That is both awesome and challenging sometimes. In Unitarian Universalism, you get to decide what is meaningful to you and what feels true about the world. That doesn’t mean that we encourage you to wildly make up stuff. We do want you to learn about many different religions, traditions and ways of taking care of your spirit. Think about what helps you be the best person you can be.”

During the announcements, Reverend Heather thanked everyone that had sent in their pledges for the 2017-2018 operating budget. “In just three weeks,” Reverend Heather said, “We have raised $250,000.00. That’s amazing and awesome. Thank you so much. My hope is that somehow, we can reach our $327,000 pledge goal in order to fairly compensate our dedicated staff. That is another $77,000 still to raise. If you have not yet put in a pledge, a first-time pledge, a pledge of any amount, an increase over last year’s pledge, or you can increase a pledge already made, please do so as soon as possible. Your Board, Finance Committee, and congregational leadership have to come up with a balanced budget by the end of May and we need to hear from every one of you to do that. I remain hopeful.”

“In news of larger denomination,” Reverend Heather said “I am thrilled to update you with the news that good things are happening are happening in Boston and throughout our denomination and leadership, as we wrestle with renewed attention on the impact of racism within and throughout our organizations and congregations. Following the resignation of President Peter Morales at the end of March, three Co-Presidents have been appointed to lead the Unitarian Universalist Association until the end of June. Former President Reverend Bill Sinkford, experienced lay leader and professional psychologist Leon Spencer, and Starr King School for the Ministry Faculty Member Reverend Sofia Betancourt. All three identify as people of color and they have a unique charge to look at racism as it has impacted hiring practices in our denomination. I encourage you all to go online to UUWorld.org to read more about all this.”

For the time of sharing Reverend Heather quoted Howard Zinn:

“To be hopeful in bad times is not just foolishly romantic, it is based on the fact that human history is a history not only of cruelty, but also of compassion, sacrifice, courage, and kindness. What we chose to emphasize in this complex history will determine our lives. If we see only the worst, it destroys our capacity to do something. If we remember those times and places, and there are so many, when people have behaved magnificently, this gives us the courage to act, the energy to act, and at least the possibility of sending this spinning top of a world in a different direction. And if we do act, in however small a way, we don't have to wait for some grand utopian future. The future is an infinite succession of presents, and to live now as we think human beings should live in defiance of all that is bad around us is, in itself, a marvelous victory."

Reverend Heather's reflection Hunting for Hope began with the long search for signs of spring. She sang (from Hamilton) "Look around, look around. How lucky we are to be alive right now."

"It is necessary to remind ourselves of all the many sources of hope," affirmed Reverend Heather. "So today I want to talk to you about Easter egg hunts. Who doesn't love finding a chocolate surprise that's been hidden just for you?"

"As an only child and grandchild," Reverend Heather stated that "for years my Grandmother hid Easter eggs in her living room that were just for me to find. But after a certain time that just sort of stopped - I don't know maybe I was in college - too grown up for that."

"I lamented this tragedy of growing up so much that once in my mid-twenties my girlfriend had gone away for a trip and I went to her house to feed her cats. There were additional instructions to find eggs, hidden all around her house with little notes, chocolates, special things. I remember the joy of somebody hiding Easter eggs for me to find. Grownups need surprises in their lives sometimes even more than we did as kids."

"Growing up Unitarian Universalist means cultivating respect for diversity and imprinting upon ourselves and our children that there are many equally right ways to view and experience the world. As long as we engage in our search responsibly, conscientiously, with great care, with the awareness that sometimes we will do it wrong and someone will help us find a way to do it more appropriately, we Unitarian Universalists are encouraged to be open minded, to think beyond any one book or single sacred text, beyond any one story."

Reverend Heather quoted the words of writer, activist, and historian Rebecca Solnit: "Sometimes one person inspires a movement, or her words do decades later. Sometimes a few passionate people change the world. Sometimes they start a mass movement and millions do (change the world). Sometimes the millions are stirred by the same outrage or the same ideal and change comes upon us like a change of weather. All that these transformations have in common is that they begin in imagination. They begin in hope. To hope is to gamble, it's to bet on the future, on our desires, on the possibility that an open heart and uncertainty are better than gloom and safety. To hope is dangerous and yet it is the opposite of fear. For to live is to risk. Hope just means another world might be possible, not promised, not guaranteed. Hope calls for action. Action is impossible without hope.”

Reverend Heather said when she came back from parental leave she learned that the church's Director of Religious Education would be away and that no Easter egg hunt was planned. In her own words she had a crisis of faith: “No Easter egg hunt?? How can this be?”

Reverend Heather continued: “On Easter Sunday, it is up to us. We are one another's greatest sources of hope, even when we totally exasperate one another. We also inspire, goad, compel, challenge, and encourage each other onward in our free and responsible search.”

At the end of the service before the Easter egg hunt all attendees were given a small piece of paper with an inspirational message just for them alone such as “Spend time with those you love. One day you'll say either: I wish I had or I'm glad I did.” Or quotes from religious leaders of the past like Martin Luther who said: “God writes the gospel not in the bible alone, but also on the trees, and in the flowers and clouds and stars.”

And then members were asked to pass on the inspiration to the next generation. They did this by writing an inspirational word or saying on the pieces of paper provided at the table on the perimeter of the Sanctuary and putting it in the colorful plastic eggs along with a chocolate treat for the children. The colored eggs were then hidden outside for the children to find in the Easter egg hunt. Members took turns writing while the rest of congregation sang “Wade in the Water” and “'Tis A Gift to be Simple” to joyfully close the Easter service and begin the egg hunt.

Correction to Last Week's Service Synopsis--

The following is a revised service synopsis from the Building (and Living) Your Own Theology service and Credo statements. Please enjoy this revision and correction.

Thank you!

"Julie Grace shared a story of how her personal theology has changed over time. She described her early theological beliefs from her childhood days as a born-again Christian in a Southern Baptist church. Then, she shared her current theology reflected in the words of a poem entitled "Just As I Am." Here is an excerpt from that poem:

"Complete and whole
Sacred and Divine
Shining, sparkling,
Illuminating and Bright in might
Just as I am"

Church Business News

The Stewardship Committee will be reporting the results of our USH pledge campaign at the Board meeting May 9. We need to have all pledges in before then so that our leaders can adopt a realistic budget for the new fiscal year starting July 1. Already over 100 members and friends have answered the call and pledged over $250,000. Thank you!!

Making a financial pledge is an expression of our UU principles and is essential to the health of the Society. In order to reap the blessings and benefits from our caring and active USH community, we all need to give some of our time, talent, and treasure. When determining your pledge, keep in mind all the important things we want to do next year such as:

* Fair Wages for Our Staff: We continue to struggle to bring our staff wages up to Fair Compensation Guidelines. Help us leap this hurdle!

* Increasing Our Social Justice Efforts: This year USH has been an increasingly assertive voice for justice, environmental care, and helping those affected by war, poverty, and persecution. We need more financial resources to keep the momentum going.

* Building Improvements. Our beautiful but 'mature' 1964 Meeting House needs many upgrades to improve its appearance and functionality to keep up with 21st century needs.

* Filling the Gap: We have a projected $25,000 income shortfall for 2017-2018 due to the end of a matching grant and a decrease in fundraising income. Help us make up this crucial difference!

If you are one of the 35 members and friends we are waiting to hear from, please answer the call by making your pledge now. It makes our job so much easier when you take the initiative.

Here's how: You can do your part by stopping by the Stewardship Table in Fellowship Hall on Sunday and filling out your pledge card. You can also e-mail or call our Bookkeeper, Brian Mullen, to let him know of your pledge intention, set up monthly payments or automatic debits. He can be reached at bmullen@ushartford.com or 860-233-9897, ext 102.

Peter Meny, Stewardship Committee Chair, would also be happy to mail you a Pledge Card if you need one, or you can pick up one from Linda Clark in the USH Office on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, or Sunday.

2nd Principle Things You Can Do ~ "Focus: Resistance is Daily Practice" Each day we must choose to focus our energies. Each day we must take actions of resistance to tyranny & oppression; we must engage in acts of self-care & perseverance; we must reach out and connect with other human beings in building meaningful relationships. If you use Facebook, type the group name: "Focus: Resistance..." into your Search box and ask to join the group. For all of us: we are in this mess together. People are seeking out this congregation as a basecamp for connection, direction, relationship-building, solace, and clear ways to organize action. Your support for the work of this congregation is crucial right now. Perhaps more than ever, and certainly more than in recent years, people need this congregation as a conduit--a way to respond, make sense out of things, find community, build resilience and strength during difficult times. Let us support one another earnestly, now and in the days ahead. Warmly – Rev. BENEFIT CONCERT by Isaac Reguera for the Friends of Music Fund
Our own USH Accompanist Isaac Reguera will play piano solos from his final Hartt recital for a Masters of Music degree. Expect to hear gorgeous classical and modern pieces along with Isaac's delightful improvisational skills. This concert is Isaac's gift to the congregation as he finishes up his year with us, and is designed to replenish the Friends of Music Fund which will in turn help pay for next year's Choral Scholars and Accompanist. $15 suggested donation which will go to the Friends of Music Fund.

Saturday, May 20 - 7:30 p.m.

The Bill of Rights

A rousing choral presentation, accompanied by orchestra, of this nationally-recognized composition by Wesleyan Professor Neely Bruce. The Ten Amendments which make up the Bill of Rights will be proclaimed aloud before being sung. This piece has been performed repeatedly around the country to great acclaim... and we need it more than ever these days. $15 suggested donation to go to a non-profit organization to be identified.

Sunday, June 4 - Immediately after the service

Family Share Talent/No Talent Show

Everyone with or without talent is invited to... sing, dance, play instruments, tell jokes, recite poetry, create drama, or otherwise entertain our very easily entertained USH family downstairs in Fellowship Hall. Be brave! The full title is "USH Family Share Talent/No Talent Show" -- remember, no talent necessary. (But please give us a heads-up so that we can put the performers in order.)
ALWAYS FREE!

AIM Workshop: Negotiating the Minefield of Language

Sunday, April 30th 12-1:30pm

Meditation Room

Facilitated by Katharine Ann Buck

What this workshop is about: "People with disabilities frequently encounter language that robs them of their humanity. This workshop seeks to raise awareness and encourage more thoughtful language choices... There is no consensus across disabilities on a single standard for preferred language. Most allies and some disability constituencies have embraced People First language, but there are cogent reasons why some communities and individuals with disabilities have not. This workshop encourages allies to adopt People First language generally, and to pay attention to how people self-identify. It also holds up the discomfort allies feel about the lack of a "right" answer."

Weekly Reminders

USH Website Maintenance !~ As Office Administrator, Linda Clark is our primary in-house contact for website maintenance. Please contact her first with any website issues you encounter. There is a team of USH members (USH Editors) who are sometimes able to address issues that she e-mails them about. If neither Linda or the USH Editors are able to resolve or address the issue, we have an outside website consultant who handles our ongoing website maintenance and updates on a monthly contractual basis. Linda will e-mail our consultant about things that are beyond her or our congregational capability. Thanks so much for your concern and attention to the USH website and our current process.

Rayla Mattson is our Rentals Manager. For new rental requests to use space at USH, please contact her at: dre@ushartford.com or 860-839-5001. For rates and rental application, go here.

Greater Hartford Cohousing
Community – Sustainability – Life Enhancement

We are a group of households planning to build an urban cohousing project in Greater Hartford. We intend to create a project that fosters community bonds and sustainable living through thoughtful design. Our vision is to create an adult-centered community in or near the city of Hartford so we can enjoy its diverse amenities and peoples, become part of the fabric of our neighborhood, and encourage aging in place.

We currently consist of three households that have met weekly for a year. During that time, we have created a legal entity, completed a feasibility study with a nonprofit development consultant, consulted with architects who specialize in cohousing, and identified several properties that could work, while still on the look-out for other promising sites.

Our building plan will encourage sociability as well as providing ample opportunities for privacy. It will consist of 22 to 30 private living units with 1 to 3 bedrooms, clustered around a large outdoor courtyard that provides opportunities for socializing and gardening, as well as a large common house—the ‘heart’ of the project—which will feature a large dining area and kitchen for shared meals, and other amenities desired by the community.

Legally and financially our project will be structured as a condominium. Unlike a conventional condominium, however, we seek to build the community first and engage members in the project, both as early equity investors and as designers.

These early joiners will become co-creators of their cohousing community. For further information on cohousing see www.cohousing.org

We welcome your interest in our pioneering venture. Our current aim is to reach a critical mass of members who will eventually commit to joining us. If you think cohousing might be a good fit for you, let's get together.

April 27 – May 25, 2017
Opening Event Thursday, April 27,
6:00 – 8:30pm
Revs. Cathy & Heather Rion Starr are included in this multi-media project.

The Golden Thread Gallery and photographer Ruedi Hofmann created an innovative and meaningful community art project titled “Pivotal Hartford: Faces of Change.” This multi-media project includes photography, film, and spoken word, combined in an exciting way that has yet to be seen in our region, creating an outstanding artistic experience. Pivotal Hartford celebrates a diverse collection of people that make an effort to create a strong and vibrant Hartford. Pivotal Hartford began pre-production in March of 2016 with an opening in April 2017. The opening will be held at The Bushnell in Hartford, with the ultimate goal of rotating the exhibit to new sites throughout Hartford. Join Rev. Heather at the opening April 27th! ### General Assembly 2017, June 21-25, New Orleans, LA

General Assembly (GA) is the annual meeting of our Unitarian Universalist Association (UUA). Attendees worship, witness, learn, connect, and make policy for the Association through democratic process. Anyone may attend; congregations must certify annually to send voting delegates. Planning is well underway for General Assembly 2017 at the Ernest N. Morial Convention Center, 900 Convention Center Blvd, New Orleans, LA 70130. Google Map. By going to New Orleans, we can both celebrate our successes and recommit to the relationships that have been forged with this community. For more info. go HERE. Please let John Brancato, USH President, and Revs Cathy and Heather know if you are able to attend, either in person or as an off-site delegate, at home online.

Peace – as we come to the close of the USH-Enews week.
Be kind to others – and to yourself.

Our Unitarian Universalist Principles: The member congregations of the Unitarian Universalist Association covenant to affirm and promote: the inherent worth and dignity of every person; justice, equity, and compassion in human relations; acceptance of one another and encouragement to spiritual growth in our congregations; a free and responsible search for truth and meaning; the right of conscience and the use of the democratic process, within our congregations and in society at large; the goal of world community with peace, liberty, and justice for all; respect for the interdependent web of all existence, of which we are a part.
